Announcements:
1. Associate Dean Veeger announced that there are some TAs available with biological experience, also the call for fall 2015 classes will be coming out soon & there should be effort by chairs to discuss and arrange course offering times for best use of classroom resources and TAs. She would be looking at scheduling for potential conflicts.

2. Business Manager Curfman announced that the position for the fiscal coordinator for unit 3 is posted for search; Amy Porter has left the University and a search for a college fundraiser will be conducted simultaneously with a search for a separate individual with the same position at GSO.

3. Dean Kirby announced that the Council of Deans had not met for a while. But vision statements were being discussed concerning the 55 new faculty lines will be hired in the next four years (about 40 tenure-track lines and 15 lecturers). A draft vision for the hiring was being actively discussed. Three key criteria to be considered are impacts on teaching & learning; research & scholarship; and innovation & excellence. Successful proposals for new hires must touch on all three of the key criteria. The more collaborative and interdisciplinary the proposed hires would be, the better we will do. "Be robust in your requests." Large interdisciplinary courses for 200+ undergrads would be looked on very favorably in the process.

4. Dean Kirby urged the Water Resources and the Sustainable Agriculture & Food Systems groups and others to produce a white paper on how to move forward to build their clusters and how proposed new faculty might fit in. He needs material to bring forth the needs of the College when faculty line allocations begin being discussed.

5. The request for positions will be released soon by the Provost's Office so all departments were urged to build a 4-year strategic allocation wish list.

6. The Academic Affairs Productivity Analysis of Departments came out of the Provost's Office, was discussed in context of potential new hires. The document is appended to these minutes as Appendix 1.
