Native American Student Organization (NASO)

Introduction:
Internationally, there are many indigenous cultures. Few still remain untouched by the modern world. For the hundreds of tribes whom came into contact with western civilization, are now in an everyday struggle to preserve their rich heritage, which originally lies within their environment. In this new environment (modern world) natural resources play a part in why and how tribes are becoming disoriented. Unfortunately due to the high demand for the natural assets these type of events have already affected North American tribes. It is our goal to teach others the cause and effects of these actions. As a group, part of our mission is to share ideas and create ways in which we could acknowledge this part of American History.

Mission:
The purpose of NASO is to educate the campus about native American culture past present and future.

Executive board:
President - India Reels

Contact Information:
Email: naso_uri@yahoo.com

Meeting Time and Place:
Tuesdays, 7:00 PM Multicultural Center Room 201