eXposure is both a student organization and dance team. The group’s purpose is to educate and help break barriers between different cultures through the use of music and dance. Its goal is to bring the student body together to learn about the importance of the diversity and culture here at URI. The meetings provide a “safe haven” for students to openly discuss about different issues concerning diversity. The group is open to all students and hope to encourage its members to promote diversity in the URI community whether it is through the organization or through the dance team.

They organize different events to promote various cultures and to bring entertainment to the general student body. One of the events the group hosted was the The Big Bang. This year was the 6th year and the purpose of the event is to bring the student body together and show the diversity and educate the students the cultures we have on campus. All the proceeds we collect from the event goes to the charity or foundation of our choice. This year we raised $4,000 and we are donating it to College Visions.
