Eric W. Johnson received his B.S. degree in electrical engineering from Valparaiso University in 1987, and his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in computer science and engineering from the University of Notre Dame in 1994 and 1997. After completing his Ph.D., he joined the faculty at Valparaiso University where he has held the Paul and Cleo Brandt Professorship, served as Chair of the ECE Department, and helped create the Valparaiso International Engineering Programs.

In January of 2013, he was named Dean of the College of Engineering where he continues to promote global engineering education and entrepreneurial-minded learning.