Sally Conant is the Faculty Global Co-op Coordinator for the College of Engineering at Northeastern University. She holds a B.A. in International Studies & Sociology and a M.A. in International Relations.

Within the College of Engineering, the Global Co-op program sends over 120 students abroad to more than 35 countries annually. Sally advises students on benefits of global co-op and prepares students to live and work abroad for 6 months through culture, language, and workplace difference material and by delivering information sessions on cultural competence.

Sally also teaches co-op professional development courses to help students integrate their co-op and academic education to prepare for the global workforce.