Graduate students enrolled in degree-granting programs in the Alan Shawn Feinstein College of Education and Professional Studies (CEPS) are encouraged to engage in research-related and professional development opportunities that will enhance their education. The CEPS Dean’s office will review proposals/applications for support related to these types of activities.

1. Students are required to complete the CEPS Graduate Student Fund Application and supply all needed information (attached).

2. CEPS students must seek support related to their research or travel needs from their faculty mentors and units first, identifying the amount of support committed in the application. Graduate students should also indicate if they are receiving support from the Graduate School (“other sources of support”).

3. Graduate students can apply to receive funds for the following: 1) registration fee to a professional meeting, 2) research materials, supplies, software or assessment tools, and copying charges, 3) program improvement (e.g., small pieces of equipment, etc.) and, 4) travel. Please note that graduate students who are making a presentation (oral presentation or poster or abstract) will receive more funding than those students who only attend the professional meeting and do not present. Graduate students must include evidence of acceptance to present at their respective professional meeting when submitting the CEPS Graduate Student Fund Application.

4. Graduate students can only receive funding once in their graduate careers; therefore, if a graduate student received funding through the CEPS Dean’s Office during the previous academic year, he/she will not be eligible for funding for this academic year or beyond. An exception would be for a student who has been funded once and subsequently has a poster or paper accepted for presentation at a conference.

5. Funding opportunities will be on a first come, first served basis within each unit. The Dean’s Office will review applications in the order in which they are received. Once the funding is exhausted for a particular unit, the director will be notified.

6. Requests for support will not be reviewed by the Dean without the endorsement of a faculty mentor and the unit head on the submitted application.

7. All requests must be forwarded directly to the Dean’s office to Shandra Pelagio at shandra@uri.edu at least one month prior to the expected travel or participation; requests must be forwarded to the CEPS Dean’s Office by the student, not the faculty mentor.

8. Retrospective requests for travel support will not be accepted. Students must review all in-state and out-of-state travel procedures and policies with their faculty mentors and/or their unit support staff. All travel forms (i.e., TA, TEV) must be processed through the student’s academic unit, not through the Dean’s office.

9. Student applicants, faculty mentors, and support staff will be notified of the status of the request by email within 5 days of the receipt of the request.
Through the generous contributions of our alumni and friends, the following support is available to graduate students and graduate programs. The table below summarizes the types of available support along with other pertinent details. Awards in each category will be approved for eligible applicants until the support is exhausted. To be eligible, students must be matriculated in a graduate program in CEPS and be making acceptable progress toward completing a degree.
