“It is true that the University of Rhode Island offers first-class education to the future leaders of the world. But what is perhaps more compelling is that the students, staff, faculty, and alumni who work, teach, and learn on our campuses and in our communities make up the dynamic interactions of our everyday lives, inspiring and empowering us to believe in ourselves, support one another, and be the absolute best version of a community we can be.”
—Marc Parlange

Dear Class of 2022,

It is an honor to formally recognize the incredible passion, commitment, and hard work you put into making today a reality! Without a doubt, your road to Commencement has been unconventional—full of twists and turns, bumps, and roadblocks. Indeed, the past two years have been exceedingly challenging for the world. But here at URI, I have been impressed by your agility and resilience. So many across the globe were in the same boat—pushing themselves to do incredible things in the face of opposition and adversity—but I am proud to be a part of this generation and this community of big thinkers and doers who are moving us forward, together.

I am certain that after these past few years, you are not just well-equipped for whatever lies ahead, you are poised for success. In fact, I only need to walk through our campuses, grab a seat in the stands or the theater, listen in on a lecture, venture into a lab, or stop to talk to any club or colloquium to know that you have done great things at URI. Wherever your path takes you from here, I hope you bring a piece of the University along. I encourage you to lean on the connections you have made and the networks you have built and leverage the degree you have so richly earned. Stay an active and engaged member of the University, and you will reap the rewards for years to come.

Your future is bright, with an open road on the horizon. Enjoy it!

Congratulations, Class of 2022!

Sincerely,

Marc B. Parlange
President, University of Rhode Island
ALMA MATER

All hail to thee, Rhode Island,
We pledge our faith anew,
While our heroes bring thee honor
With our banner of white and blue.
In truth we owe her much, for she's shown us the way
To achieve and be of service to the world.
So all hail our Alma Mater,
Rhode Island, our guide whate'er we do.

Think big. It’s what we do every day at URI. It has been our hallmark ever since a small group of people acted on a big idea more than 130 years ago. Foresight, perseverance, and integrity have been the very foundations of the University since its beginnings in 1888, when several South Kingstown residents, the South Kingstown Town Council, and the state of Rhode Island made a collective donation of $5,000 to purchase the 140-acre Oliver Watson Farm to establish a state agricultural school and experiment station.

Their action would exemplify the vision of President Abraham Lincoln and the Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862, that education of the people and for the people was, and is, America’s and the world’s best hope for enduring prosperity and peace. In 1892, we became the Rhode Island College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, graduating our first 17 students just two years later. In 1951, we became the University of Rhode Island. Today, as we celebrate the University’s 136th Commencement, those 140 original acres have grown into a 1,200-acre Kingston Campus, plus the Feinstein Providence Campus, Narragansett Bay Campus, W. Alton Jones Campus, and the Rhode Island Nursing Education Center.

Much has happened in the past 130 years. Our colleges of nursing, pharmacy, business, engineering, arts and sciences, environment and life sciences, health sciences, and education and professional studies, and our Graduate School of Oceanography are signature centers of scholarship and research. More than 90 undergraduate and 73 graduate degree programs inspire our students and spark their creativity.

The University is known regionally and worldwide for its big ideas and pioneering research in such areas as ocean sciences, ocean engineering, coastal resiliency, food sustainability, fisheries, and biomedical sciences; air, water, ground pollution, and plastic pollution; engineering, marine sciences, forensic sciences, neuroscience, pharmaceuticals, the behavioral sciences, and public health promotion.

In a nod to our enduring history, in 2017 the U.S. Department of the Interior recognized the beauty and architectural significance of our historic Quadrangle, designating the area as the University of Rhode Island Historic District, now part of the National Register of Historic Places.

Since 2006 the University has invested more than $1 billion in its facilities. In October 2019, more than 500 people celebrated the official opening of the Fascitelli Center for Advanced Engineering and the renovation and expansion of the College of Engineering’s historic home, Bliss Hall. Rhode Island voters approved $150 million in bond funding for the project.

In a special election in 2021, Rhode Island voters approved a higher education bond that included $57.3 million to continue renovations and improvements to the University’s Fine Arts Center. The 54-year-old building is home to URI’s theater, music, and art departments, serving more than 5,000 students each year and bringing more than 50,000 visitors to the Kingston Campus annually for stage plays, concerts, gallery shows, and smaller exhibits.

And our progress continues. With construction proceeding on a new pier at the Narragansett Bay Campus and groundbreaking for construction of a new ocean robotics laboratory and marine operations facility on the horizon, phase one of the master plan to transform and modernize URI’s world-class Graduate School of Oceanography will be well underway. These projects, made possible thanks to Rhode Island voters’ approval of a $45 million bond in 2018, will ready the campus for the arrival of the new $125 million National Science Foundation Regional Class Research Vessel Narragansett Dawn—slated to be delivered in 2024—and enable it to further enhance cutting-edge research and meet our students’ and future workforce’s evolving educational needs while continuing to support and build Rhode Island’s blue economy.

In the decades since its founding, the University has mourned its war dead, survived the Great Depression, been a part of the civil rights movement, and protested wars, gun violence, and racial injustice, all while growing into a university with a global reach and broad impact in the state. Together, over the past two years, we successfully faced the trials and tribulations of the COVID-19 pandemic.

In the spring of 2021, URI’s 11th president, David M. Dooley, presided over the University’s 135th Commencement at Meade Stadium before retiring after 12 years of leading the University. In August, we welcomed the University’s 12th president, Marc B. Parlange. In October, we were able to honor our Class of 2020 with an in-person ceremony at the Ryan Center. And today, thanks to the commitment of students, faculty, and staff, we rejoice in our return to our historic Quadrangle for the first time in three years as we celebrate the Class of 2022.

As our 130th academic year draws to a close, the University’s enrollment has grown to about 17,000 undergraduate and graduate students. Today, URI has about 140,000 alumni all over the world, including just over 58,000 who have made their homes in Rhode Island. On May 20, 21, and 22, as we celebrate our 136th commencement, President Parlange is proud to welcome and confer undergraduate and graduate degrees upon more than 4,000 of our newest alumni.

THE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES
AND ACADEMIC PAGEANTRY

Over the centuries, banners and flags have lent drama to public ceremonies, and the flags you see today represent the University, the history of the state, and some of the Rhode Island and international communities from which our students come. These flags help to deepen our sense of tradition and community history.

The backdrop for the Commencement exercises consists of the banners of the 10 degree-granting colleges and schools that make up the University, as well as University College for Academic Success. Traditional colors of the academic disciplines have been used: Arts and Sciences, white and golden yellow; Business, drab; Education and Professional Studies, light blue; Engineering, orange; Environment and Life Sciences, maize; the Graduate School, blue and gold; Health Sciences, sage; Nursing, apricot; Oceanography, aqua; and Pharmacy, olive green.

The flags framing the Commencement stand are associated with early Rhode Island history: the Flag Act of 1777 flag, Betsy Ross variation; the flag of the Battle of Rhode Island (1778); the Grand Union flag (1776); the 1st Rhode Island Regiment flag (1775); the Rhode Island Colony flag (1774); the Meteor flag (1707); the Union flag (1707); and the Red Ensign flag (1620 in New England).

The international flags remind us of the growing importance of cultural diversity, internationalization, and global awareness.

The University of Rhode Island color guard will present the colors and lead the academic procession. The grand marshal, carrying the university mace, will follow the color guard. The faculty and the candidates for degrees will follow the grand marshal.

Academic dress has its origin in the colorful gowns and hoods of the Middle Ages. In the United States, a common code of academic dress was not adopted until 1895. This decreed three kinds of gowns and three hood lengths for bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degrees. Hoods are lined with the color or colors of the university conferring the degree and are bordered with a color representing the subject of study for which the degree is conferred.

Throughout the Commencement exercises, one may see reflected the pomp and ceremony of a feudal society and the intricacies of the medieval art of heraldry—in the ritual, the dress, the ceremonial accoutrements, such as the university mace, and in the wording of the degrees conferred.

UNIVERSITY MACE
The university mace was donated by the Class of 1963. It is made of gold-plated sterling silver and is mounted on a 3-foot rosewood staff. The URI seal, 3 inches in diameter, crowns the staff, with a sketch of Davis Hall on the back. Davis is one of the University’s oldest buildings and is the site of the university bell tower.

PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION
The medallion worn by the president was donated to the University as a 100th birthday gift by goldsmith and University of Rhode Island alumnus Robert C. Corio ’73. Made of 18-karat gold and about the size of a half dollar, it is stamped with the university seal and is bordered by an elegant, rounded setting. The chain is made of small gold ovals linked together, each engraved with the name of a university president emeritus. Through the years, the name of each new president will be added to the medallion.

GONFALONS
Within the Commencement procession, each college will process behind gonfalons carried by one of its own graduates. Gonfalons are flags or banners, hung from crosspieces on poles, that have been used since medieval times as symbols of state or office and are now traditionally used by colleges and universities. The background of each college’s gonfalon is the official URI dark blue; the stripes on the gonfalons are the traditional colors of the academic disciplines.

2022 NATIONAL SCHOLARSHIPS

Some national scholarship programs are so prestigious that one can only apply if nominated by the University. This year, the following students and alumni have been recognized in such competitions:

Six URI students have been selected as 2022 Boren Scholars: Darby Donegan ’24, Suzelle Glickman ’23, Leon Hartley ’24, Gillian Hodge ’23, Kevin Suggs ’23, and Erin Torgersen ’23. Five of the six are members of the Chinese Flagship Language Program and will spend their Capstone Year abroad in Taiwan. The final student, Kevin Suggs, an International Engineering Program student, will spend the year in Japan. An initiative of the National Security Education Program, the David L. Boren Scholarship provides funding opportunities for U.S. undergraduate students to study less commonly taught languages in world regions critical to U.S. interests. In exchange for funding, Boren Scholars commit to working in the federal government for at least one year after graduation.

Graduate students Rachel Cohn, M.A. ’23, and Victoria Fulfer ’16, M.S. ’19, Ph.D. ’24, have been offered 2022 Fulbright U.S. Student Awards to Kenya and Vietnam respectively to conduct research. Written into law by President Harry S. Truman in 1946, the Fulbright Program is the flagship international educational exchange program sponsored by the U.S. government.

Two alumni, Timothy Berard ’20 and Alyssa Botelho ’21, were selected as finalists in the 2022 Marshall Scholarship competition. Established in 1953 by an act of British Parliament to commemorate the generous economic aid provided by the United States through the European Recovery Program, the Marshall Scholarship selects up to 40 young Americans of high ability each year for graduate study at any university in the United Kingdom.

BARNABY M. EVANS
Doctor of Humane Letters

Creator, artist, and visionary, Barnaby Evans’ impact on Rhode Island and its capital city has been immeasurable. Trained as an environmental scientist, the artist behind WaterFire had an early career in photography, exhibiting his work worldwide before exploring more site-specific sculpture installations, landscape, architectural, and design projects, and conceptual works.

Evans began WaterFire in 1994 in an act of creative problem-solving. Frustrated from the negativity he encountered from local residents, he recognized an opportunity to reinvent Providence’s image by bringing people together to experience community engagement through an artwork that included the city and audience as part of the canvas. He succeeded and, in the process, provided a needed boost for the city’s just-finished river relocation plan.

Since its inception, WaterFire is estimated to have drawn 15 million visitors, had an economic impact of $1 billion, and created thousands of jobs. With the opening of the WaterFire Arts Center in 2017, Evans’ vision and dedication helped transform a former hazardous waste site into a vibrant arts headquarters showcasing the works of Rhode Island and national artists. His work has touched lives, broken down barriers, opened art to everyone, and inspired and connected communities.

Evans earned his bachelor’s degree in biology and environmental science from Brown University in 1975. He has received numerous honorary degrees as well as Providence’s Renaissance Award in 1997 and the 2003 Kevin Lynch Award from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was inducted into the Rhode Island Heritage Hall of Fame in 2011.
This program includes faculty members who were granted emerita/us status as of May 1, 2022.

MARILYN BARBOUR
Professor of Pharmacy Practice

Marilyn Barbour earned her Doctor of Pharmacy degree at the University of California, San Francisco, in 1982 and completed a postdoctoral residency at the University of Illinois. She began her faculty career at URI in 1983, sharing her love of discovery and teaching in the area of cardiovascular pharmacotherapy. Professor Barbour is recognized for her service to the University, providing leadership to such major initiatives as academic program review and in shared governance. She leaves a legacy of commitment to the College of Pharmacy through creating and implementing the B.S. pharmacist to Pharm.D. program and as chair of the Department of Pharmacy Practice.

RICHARD BROWN
Professor of Chemical Engineering

Richard Brown obtained a Ph.D. from Cambridge University before becoming a postdoctoral researcher at the University of Delaware. He moved from the second-smallest to the smallest state to join the URI Department of Chemical Engineering in 1981. During his 40 years at URI, Professor Brown taught courses in the materials engineering area, conducted graduate research in corrosion, and supported many undergraduate and graduate students through grant-supported research programs. He was the chair of the Department of Chemical Engineering twice.

PATRICIA BURBANK
Professor of Nursing Instruction

Patricia Burbank earned a B.S. in nursing from the University of Rhode Island and M.S. and Doctor of Nursing Science degrees from Boston University. In addition to being a faculty member, she served as the associate dean from 2013 to 2017. Professor Burbank has made sustained scholarly contributions through her longstanding commitment to gerontology, theoretical foundations of nursing, health innovations, and LGBTQ health. She has numerous publications including three books on the health care of older adults. She was the 2013 recipient of the URI Intellectual Property Recognition Award and has the distinction of being a fellow in the American Academy of Nursing.

GUO-MING CHEN
Professor of Communication Studies

Guo-Ming Chen earned his Ph.D. in communication studies at Kent State University in 1987. He joined URI in 1986 teaching courses in the areas of global and intercultural communication and research methods on undergraduate and graduate levels. Professor Chen has published widely and was a three-time recipient of the URI Outstanding Research Award and the Research Excellence Award. Through academic teaching and leadership roles in international organizations, he continues to advocate the importance of becoming a competent global citizen based on the acquisition of intercultural awareness, intercultural sensitivity, and intercultural effectiveness.

PETER CORNILLON
Professor of Oceanography

Peter Cornillon earned a Ph.D. in experimental high energy physics at Cornell University. He joined URI in 1975, initially in the Department of Ocean Engineering before moving to the Graduate School of Oceanography in 1981. Professor Cornillon’s research focuses on the use of satellite-based Earth data to study the location and persistence of sea surface temperature fronts in the global ocean. He helped develop Open-source Project for a Network Data Access Protocol, software designed to make data easily accessible through the internet. His keen interest in the future of technology led him to establish the Grand Challenge course Envisioning the Future.

ANN DANIS
Professor of Music

Ann Danis is a performer, advocate, and educator. Her success is evident by the hundreds of music educators and performers who have traveled through her studio and ensembles. She served as music director of the Fall River Symphony, the Ocean State Chamber Orchestra, and as the first female assistant conductor of the Rhode Island Philharmonic. Professor Danis established the Trenxler Memorial Scholarship Fund, enhanced through an award from the Foundation for the Advancement of String Education. She has contributed to music education journals, published in Strings magazine, and served on Department of Music and university committees, Faculty Senate, and as interim chair of the Department of Music.
LYNNE DERBYSHIRE
Associate Professor of Communication Studies
Director, University Honors Program

Lynne Derbyshire received her Ph.D. in public communication from the University of Maryland. She joined the Department of Communication Studies in 1987 and has been an affiliate of the Department of Gender and Women’s Studies for 35 years. She served as department chair for nine years and as director of the URI Honors Program for nine years. Professor Derbyshire was a co-founder of the Center for Nonviolence and Peace Studies and co-founder of the University Diversity Council. She received the 2005 URI Multicultural Center Faculty Excellence Diversity Award, and the 1999 Association of Professional and Academic Women, Woman of the Year Award.

LARRY ENGLANDER
Associate Professor of Plant Sciences and Entomology

Larry Englander retired on Jan. 1, 2022, having joined the faculty at URI in the fall of 1972, in the then-Department of Plant Pathology and Entomology. He received a B.S. from Pennsylvania State University, then an M.S. degree from Cornell University, followed by a Ph.D. from Oregon State University. While at URI, he supported the plant pathological needs of the Rhode Island nursery industry, created an undergraduate course integrating plant diseases and insects (one of several courses he taught until retirement), and researched in the areas of Phytophthora root rot, Mycorrhizae, and Sudden Oak Death.

RAE FERGUSON
Associate Professor of History and Africana Studies

Rae Ferguson earned her Ph.D. at Indiana University in 1997. In 2000, she joined URI’s Department of History and the Africana Studies Program. Her research on Black American women revealed the depth of Black women’s work in the early 20th century and identified historical sites and resources for the National Trust for Places of Historic Interest or Natural Beauty and archival collections. A strong supporter of URI’s Talent Development Program, Professor Ferguson taught young TD scholars entering URI for 16 summers. She enjoyed students’ aha moments as they learned about the Black experience and nurtured awareness of their own capabilities, helping them find their own place in the connectedness of history.

GODI FISCHER
Professor of Electrical Engineering

Godi Fischer earned his Ph.D. at ETH Zürich in 1985. He joined URI the same year and continued teaching here for 37 years. He is a recipient of the College of Engineering Faculty Excellence and Research Excellence awards and served six years as the Department of Electrical, Computer and Biomedical Engineering chair. Professor Fischer was passionate about his research in the field of microelectronics and assisted many students in starting successful careers in this competitive field. If he could not be found in his office or lab, chances were he was swimming in URI’s pool or kicking a soccer ball on a patch of green.

LISA HARLOW
Professor of Psychology

Lisa Harlow received her Ph.D. in quantitative psychology from the University of California, Los Angeles, in 1985, then joined the faculty in the Department of Psychology at URI. In her 37-year career, she has been a consistently excellent, award-winning teacher of methodology and statistics who has had a career-long focus on increasing interest, retention, performance, and diversity in quantitative science. Professor Harlow was principal investigator or co-principal investigator on millions of dollars in grant funding; authored more than 125 scholarly articles, books, or monographs; and was editor-in-chief of Psychological Methods, a premier journal. She mentored undergraduate and graduate students who fondly note her energy, kindness, and positivity.

NORBERT HEDDERICH
Professor of German

Norbert Hedderich earned his Ph.D. in foreign language education with a minor in applied linguistics from Purdue University in 1991. He had a 31-year career as a faculty member in the Department of Modern and Classical Languages and Literatures with scholarly contributions in foreign language methodology and language learning for special purposes. Professor Hedderich was the longtime head of the German program, served as chair of languages for six years, and directed the annual URI German Summer School for 22 years. He enjoyed instilling an international mindset in his students, who say his passion and dedication inspired them.
MICHAEL HONHART
Professor of History
Michael Honhart earned his Ph.D. at Duke University. He was hired as a specialist in German history, but he taught more than a dozen different courses in history and in interdisciplinary programs in his 51-year career at URI. Professor Honhart served as chair or interim chair of the Department of History on several occasions, was active in the Faculty Senate and in the Phi Beta Kappa honor society and served for many years as a faculty advisor at University College. He won awards at URI for undergraduate advising, service to the Faculty Senate, and contributions to the undergraduate general education program.

JANICE HULME
Clinical Professor of Physical Therapy
Janice Hulme was involved with the Department of Physical Therapy for 22 years and has been a full-time core faculty member for 11 years. A champion of hands-on learning, she was instrumental in integrating treatment of real patients into the curriculum as well as developing community outreach programs serving the elderly and individuals with neurologic impairments. Professor Hulme led the department in developing opportunities for interprofessional education. Together with her efforts at URI and in her physical therapy practice, she influenced the perspectives and training of hundreds of future and young professionals.

STEVEN IRVINE
Professor of Biological Sciences
Steve Irvine earned his Ph.D. in evolutionary biology from the University of Chicago after a 12-year career as an architect. His research at URI focused on genetic regulation of development and environmental physiology of reproduction in marine invertebrates. He mentored graduate students and guided numerous undergraduates through short- and long-term research projects. Professor Irvine’s courses in evolution and development challenged students to think critically and appreciate how molecular biology has expanded our understanding of all biology. He was a leader in curriculum development and assessment, serving on the Faculty Senate General Education Committee and as chair of the Biological Sciences Undergraduate Committee.

JIM KINNIE
Professor, University Libraries
Jim Kinnie earned his M.L.I.S. from URI in 2000 and became URI Libraries’ humanities reference librarian after completing a career in TV production and earning postgraduate degrees in education and technology management. His scholarship focused on distance learning and information literacy, advancing URI Libraries’ leadership in information literacy instruction in library literature. Professor Kinnie was active in university service, especially in the areas of general education and distance teaching and learning, and he fostered information literacy skills in countless students through credit courses and general library instruction. He played his banjo with the URI Traditional Jazz Band and the URI Symphony.

LINDA LAMONT
Professor of Exercise Science
Linda Lamont has been a significant contributor to the field of exercise physiology for more than 30 years, with emphasis on research in chronic disease and dietary protein needs with physical activity. She has an outstanding mentorship legacy as a colleague and major advisor to graduate and undergraduate students at URI and throughout New England. Notably, Professor Lamont was principal investigator on a National Institutes of Health-funded program called “New England Bridge to Train Exercise Scientists,” which set up collaborations between New England schools to recruit and retain Ph.D. students from underrepresented groups. Her dedication to her students and the field by providing pathways to education is commendable.

MARY LAVIN
Clinical Associate Professor
Mary Lavin joined the URI faculty in 1991. She earned a B.S. in nursing from Salve Regina College (now Salve Regina University), an M.S. in nursing from Boston University, and a D.N.P. in nursing from the University of Rhode Island. Professor Lavin has been a staunch advocate for excellence in clinical practice. Her scholarship has focused on the foundations of nursing practice at the entry and advanced levels and includes several important contributions, most recently a chapter she co-authored, titled “Putting Caring into Practice: Caring for Self,” published in the textbook Primary Care: The Art and Science of Advanced Practice Nursing.
JODY LISBERGER
Associate Clinical Professor of Gender and Women’s Studies

Jody Lisberger earned her Ph.D. in English from Boston University in 1991 and M.F.A. from Vermont College in 1999. She began her career at URI in 2004 and served as director of the Women’s Studies Program from 2008 to 2015. She oversaw a period of impressive growth of the program, renamed the Gender and Women’s Studies Program, now the Department of Gender and Women’s Studies. She is a beloved teacher and mentor who has inspired students to build careers informed by the values of social justice, diversity, and equity. In recognition of her many contributions to URI, she has been honored with excellence awards in teaching, administration, and diversity.

SETH MACINKO
Associate Professor of Marine Affairs

Seth Macinko earned his Ph.D. at University of California, Berkeley, following experiences in commercial crab fishing in Alaska. He taught fisheries law and management for more than 20 years and served as the undergraduate advisor for the Department of Marine Affairs for most of that time. He served on two National Research Council committees and on science advisory panels of federal fishery management councils in Alaska (more than 20 years), New England, and the South Atlantic. He delivered numerous invited presentations in South Africa, Australia, Cambodia, and throughout Europe and was featured in the Netflix series Rotten. He enjoys building and sailing small boats.

KAREN MCCURDY
Professor, Human Development and Family Science

Karen McCurdy has been a faculty member in the Department of Human Development and Family Science since 1999. She has demonstrated excellence in all areas of her work, including teaching, research, and administration. Notably, Professor McCurdy served as the department chair for six years and has successfully secured funding in areas related to maternal health, obesity, and early intervention. She has been a valued member of the University of Rhode Island community and made numerous contributions to the larger Rhode Island community with her expertise in family policy, parenting, and early intervention.

PATRICIA (TRISH) MOROKOFF
Professor of Psychology

Patricia J. Morokoff received her Ph.D. in clinical psychology from the State University of New York at Stony Brook and joined the faculty at URI in 1987. During her 35-year career, she was a dedicated teacher and mentor of undergraduate and graduate students and conducted impactful research in gender and sexuality. Professor Morokoff was a skilled leader, continually engaged in service to the department and University. She was highly successful as director of clinical training, department chair, associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, and undergraduate program director. In all these endeavors, Professor Morokoff was fully committed to the goals of diversity, equity, and inclusion.

JOHN PANTALONE
Associate Professor of Journalism

After 25 years as a reporter and editor, John Pantalone began a teaching career at URI in 2000. He served as Department of Journalism chair for 12 years and received both a Teaching Excellence Award and an Academic Advising Excellence Award from the College of Arts and Sciences. During his tenure, Professor Pantalone maintained connections with the local journalism community that resulted in student internships, served on numerous committees in the Harrington School of Communication and Media and the college, and worked with department faculty to modernize the journalism program’s curriculum. He also organized campus visits for high school students and lecture programs by guest journalists.

VINCENT PETRONIO
Associate Professor of Communication Studies

Vince Petronio earned his undergraduate degree at URI and graduate degree at the University of Illinois in 1976. He has taught at URI for 44 years. A pioneer in distance/online education, he taught one of URI’s first online classes in 1996 during his time as chief technology officer of URI’s Providence Campus. Professor Petronio received the first-ever teaching excellence award offered at the then-College of Continuing Education as well as the Mongeau Award for staff excellence. He returned to the Kingston Campus as a full-time professor in 2006. He is also a semiprofessional actor in the Rhode Island theater scene.
GENE POLLART
Professor of Music and Director of Bands

Gene Pollart served as professor of music and director of bands at the University of Rhode Island for 46 years. He began his teaching career in the public schools of Colorado and Washington. After receiving advanced degrees, he served on the faculty at South Dakota State University, the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh, and California State University before coming to URI. Professor Pollart holds degrees in music from the University of Colorado and Columbia Pacific University. An accomplished percussionist, he was timpanist for Artists International Opera Company of Rhode Island. He is a past president of the Rhode Island Music Educators Association.

LILLA SAMSON
Teaching Professor, Art

Lilla Samson received her M.F.A. in printmaking from Syracuse University. She came to URI in 1998 and taught courses in painting, drawing, printmaking, two-dimensional design, and color theory. Professor Samson served as University College for Academic Success advisor from 2006 to 2021 and as an academic advisor for the art department from 2016 to 2021. Her work has been exhibited regionally, nationally, and internationally and is held in the private collection of former URI President Robert L. Carothers and the permanent collection of the Newport Art Museum. Her ongoing creative research concerns viewing the landscape as a collection of worlds within worlds from macrocosmic down to microscopic levels.

MARY SULLIVAN
Professor of Nursing

Mary Sullivan earned a B.S. in nursing from Salve Regina College (now Salve Regina University), an M.S. in nursing from the University of Nebraska, and a Ph.D. in nursing from the University of Rhode Island. Her federally funded research includes one of the longest U.S. studies tracking long-term health outcomes of premature infants. These findings have been widely published. Professor Sullivan served as the president of the Eastern Nursing Research Society, ambassador for the Friends of the National Institute of Nursing Research, and interim dean of the College of Nursing from 2012 to 2016, and has the distinction of being a fellow in the American Academy of Nursing.

JUDITH SWIFT
Professor of Theatre
Professor of Communication Studies

Judith Swift earned her M.A. in English literature at URI in 1971 and continued her studies of theater through internships and residencies with internationally renowned directors and companies. She developed innovative course design and directed in the URI Department of Theatre from 1972 to 1998, serving as chair from 1982 to 1997. Professor Swift has directed off-Broadway and off-off-Broadway, League of Resident Theatres, summer stock, and international festivals, often focusing on new works with playwrights-in-residence. Since 2000, she has held joint appointments in communication studies and film media. Her focus on science communication led to work on greening the campus and the development of a sustainability minor. She served as interim vice provost for academic affairs from 2003 to 2006 and as director of the Coastal Institute since 2010, held residencies (Brown University Rites and Reason Theatre, Pew Charitable Trusts), and chaired state agencies and organizations, including the Rhode Island Council for the Humanities and the Rhode Island Film Commission.

GRANT WILLIS
Professor of Psychology

Grant Willis received his Ph.D. in educational and school psychology from the University of Georgia in 1984 and joined the URI faculty in 1987. He mentored dozens of master’s and Ph.D. students across his career. He was a respected and popular instructor of graduate and undergraduate courses in cognitive assessment, developmental psychopathology, and research methods. His research and scholarship were in cognitive developmental neuropsychology, professional decision-making in psychology, and practice issues in school psychology. Professor Willis served as department chair and co-director of the school graduate programs and was the inaugural teaching fellow of the College of Health Sciences.
Some names of degree candidates may have been added or withdrawn from the official graduation list after this program was published. Notations of distinction for graduation—cum laude, magna cum laude, and summa cum laude—are those in effect at the time of publishing.

Students complete a degree and a major. For liberal arts degrees, the major is not included in the degree title or on the diploma.

WELCOME TO THE ALUMNI COMMUNITY

Today you are joining a strong and talented community of about 140,000 alumni worldwide. You’ll find many ways to stay connected to URI and your Rhody friends—through social gatherings, special events, reunions, and great networking opportunities. In addition, be sure to follow @AlumniURI on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram. Visit alumni.uri.edu to find resources for recent alumni.

SUPPORT FOR YOUR CAREER

The alumni community is a powerful resource to help you along your career journey. You’ll find hundreds of alumni ready to offer advice within URI CareerConnect, a career mentoring platform that matches you with alumni advisors based on degree, field, location, and other criteria. Set up your profile and schedule a one-on-one conversation with a fellow Ram right away! Alumni Career Services also offers webinars and workshops throughout the year to help you with career planning, job searches, resumes, interviews, professional development, graduate school, and more. Visit alumni.uri.edu/careers to take advantage of these resources.

ANSWER THE RHODY SENIOR CHALLENGE

Congratulations! Members of the Class of 2022, we invite you to take part in the alumni tradition of making a gift to RhodyNow, which provides immediate support to all facets of the University. Gifts of all sizes make an impact, and your participation is what matters most! Help the Class of 2022 answer the challenge, and encourage your classmates to do the same!

Leave your mark and be counted! Visit: urifae.org/seniorchallenge.

A special thank-you to the class members who stepped up to answer the challenge and can be seen wearing the philanthropy cord. Every gift does make a difference, and we are grateful for yours.
