However, if you would prefer to receive all financial aid notifications, including financial aid award letters, printed out and mailed to your home address, you may opt out of electronic communications by notifying Enrollment Services in writing, using this form. You may do this at any time during your attendance at the University of Rhode Island, even if you have previously authorized electronic communications.

The types of communications that we provide electronically include (but are not limited to):

- Student "To Do" lists
- Application process reminders
- Financial Aid Office policies
- Financial Aid award letters
- Disbursement notifications
- Satisfactory Academic Progress notices
- Master Promissory Note and Loan counseling information

Please sign and date below if you do not wish to receive any electronic communications from Enrollment Services-Financial Aid.
