BAR OF CLAIMS

In accordance with Rhode Island General Laws, any future Worker's Compensation claim will not be approved within the first two years of your employment with the State should you willfully provide false information or intentionally fail to disclose your Worker's Compensation history. This false or withheld information must be directly related to the personal injury, which is the basis of your new Worker's Compensation claim.

Rhode Island State Law

28-35-57.1 BAR OF CLAIMS – An employee's claim for compensation from an employer under Chapters 29 to 38, inclusive of this title, shall be barred from the date the employee commences employment for a period of two (2) years in the event said employee has willfully provided false information as to his or her ability to perform the essential functions of the job, with or without reasonable accommodation, on an employment application requesting that information, if the information is directly related to the personal injury which is the basis of the new claim for compensation. This section shall not apply unless the employment application, advises the employee of the substance of this section. Nothing herein shall exempt any employer from or excuse full compliance with any applicable provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act and chapter 42-87 (Discrimination Against the Handicapped) of the general laws.
