December Peace Post

In a world filled with violence, the Center for Nonviolence and Peace Studies works tirelessly to further our mission of peace. Check out what we did in December, and how you can support us in the new year.

Visit our Website

Coming in January: Martin Luther King Jr. Day

Jan. 21, 2019 is Martin Luther King Jr. Day. Stay tuned for our upcoming MLK events.

Hundreds of URI students stand up against gun violence

Friday, Dec. 14 marked six years since the tragic Sandy Hook Elementary School shooting in which 20 children and six educators were fatally shot.

Read more

Rocky Hill students present nonviolence research projects

On Dec. 7, 21 8th grade students from Rocky Hill School, under the guidance of Jody Cicchese, visited the Center for Nonviolence and Peace Studies to present their research on nonviolence movements.

Read more
Peace Psychology students present research projects at symposium

On Dec. 6, 25 students enrolled in PSY425, Peace Psychology, presented their research projects at the Peace Psychology Symposium in the Multicultural Student Services Center Hardge Forum.

Read more

Nonviolence trainer participates in United Nations Alliance of Civilizations 8th Global Forum

Yehuda Silverman, a Level 1 Kingian Nonviolence Trainer from the 2016 International Nonviolence Summer Institute, recently participated in the United Nations Alliance of Civilizations 8th Global Forum.

Read more