

URI's Second Annual Celebration of International Women's Day

Featuring 2012 Nobel Prize in Literature Nominee

Dacia Maraini

This event is free and open to the public

Refreshments will be served

Thursday, February 27, 2014, 5-7pm
Multi-Cultural Center - Hardge Forum
Bedwin Hacker (2003)

Film by Tunisian director Nadia El Fani

Presented in French and Arabic with English subtitles - discussion to follow

Friday, February 28, 2014, 4-6:30pm
Swan Hall - Agnes G. Doody Auditorium

Conference featuring Dacia Maraini along with distinguished scholars from URI and prestigious schools including Harvard University, Fordham University, Mount Holyoke College, University of Texas at Austin, Hunter College - CUNY, DePauw University, Fitchburg State University, Wheaton College, Hofstra University & University of Vermont

For more information contact moderator and organizer
Professor Michelangelo La Luna at laluna@uri.edu

Sponsors

URI Office of the President, URI Office of the Provost, the Office of the Dean of the College of Arts & Sciences, Center for the Humanities, Honors Program, Film/Media Program, Department of Modern and Classical Languages and Literatures, Department of Gender and Women's Studies and Department of Philosophy