

THE UNIVERSITY OF RHODE ISLAND
IS HONORED TO PRESENT
DISTINGUISHED INTERNATIONAL VISITING SCHOLAR
DACIA MARAINI

The Distinguished Visiting International Scholars Program at URI presents Dacia Maraini at the Kingston Campus' Swan Hall Auditorium on March 1, 2013.

Ms. Maraini is one of the finest Italian woman writers alive today. She has won both the Campiello and Strega prizes, which are the most prestigious Italian literature awards. Her books are translated in 22 countries and some of her bestsellers, such as Storia di Piera, Leta del malessere, La lunga vita di Marianna Ucria, Voci, and Memoria di una ladra, were made into successful movies.

In addition to these achievements, Ms. Maraini has been a champion for women's rights which is the main topic of her research and literary production.

Free and Open to the Public.
