

International Admission - Fast Facts

WELCOME TO URI

With globally focused academic offerings and hundreds of international learning experiences to choose from, the University of Rhode Island educates students to be culturally competent and ready for an interconnected, interdependent world.

Undergraduate admission is competitive, and each candidate receives individual consideration. International students applying for admission must meet all admission requirements for their level.

FIRST-YEAR APPLICANT

You are a first-year applicant if you are graduating from secondary school and have never enrolled in college, or if you have attended secondary school and college during the same time period (dual enrollment) or have taken some college-level courses during secondary school.

TRANSFER APPLICANT

You are a transfer applicant if you've attended college or university in any capacity after graduating from secondary school – even if you haven't earned any credits.

REQUIRED MATERIALS

It is the applicant's responsibility to request these documents. Your school counselors can assist you in submitting the following documents electronically via the Common Application:

- Secondary school documents, including results and certificates of completion from national secondary school examinations (if applicable).
- Official translations of secondary school documents.
- Letter of recommendation.
- Official TOEFL/IELTS/Duolingo scores (sent to URI directly by the testing agency).
- College transcripts (if you have attended a post-secondary school).
- SAT/ACT not required.

APPLICATION PROCESS

Complete the Common Application and submit all required documents. There is a $65 application fee payable online.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS

All international applicants whose first language is not English must provide proof of English language proficiency.

Applicants who have attended a secondary school or post-secondary school where the language of instruction is in English may be exempt from submitting an English proficiency examination depending upon their English grades (AP, IB, O-level, A-level, GCSE, American Curriculum) and their SAT and/or ACT scores (if submitted). Such exemptions are determined on a case-by-case basis.
