RE: 2022-2023 Graduate Assistantships: Teaching, Research and Administrative

This memorandum provides critical information and links with respect to the hiring of Graduate Assistants at the University of Rhode Island. The following procedures are to be used in the appointment of Graduate Assistants during the 2022-2023 academic year. It is informed by the current GAU contract and Graduate School Policies and Procedures.

The April 15 Resolution

The University of Rhode Island participates in the Council of Graduate Schools' (CGS) "Resolution Regarding Graduate Scholars, Fellows, Trainees and Assistantships" also known as the "April 15 Resolution." The deadline for acceptance of financial aid remains on that date, at midnight in our time zone.

Participation in the resolution obliges us to allow admitted graduate students to consider all offers of financial support through April 15. In turn, the resolution binds students to their decisions made or held in place after April 15. Over 325 U.S. institutions offering graduate degrees have agreed to abide by this resolution. Your cooperation ensures that both students and programs conduct their admissions in an ethical manner, and that they receive equal treatment and consideration in the financial support decision-making process.

Here are some important aspects of the Resolution:

- The April 15, 2022, deadline applies only to acceptance of an offer of financial support such as a graduate scholarship, fellowship, traineeship, or assistantship.
- It applies only to offers of financial support for the following academic year.
- Although you can send out your offers well before the deadline, prospective graduate students are under no obligation to respond to offers of financial aid prior to April 15.
- Acceptance of an offer of financial support made after April 15, 2022, is conditional upon presentation by the student of a written release from any previously accepted offer.
- All offers of financial support should include a copy of or link to the "April 15 Resolution":

I. Graduate Assistantship Eligibility

To fill a graduate assistantship position, a graduate student must be fully matriculated and in good academic standing. They must register for at least six (6) credits each semester and will be billed as full-time students. Doctoral students who have completed all their requirements except their dissertation defense and are designated by the Graduate School as ABD (All But Dissertation) for tuition and assistantship eligibility, are required to register for a minimum of three (3) credits. To be granted ABD Status, a student needs to submit the ABD Request Form. Students must possess a valid social security card and submit a completed I-9 in accordance with established procedures within three days of starting the appointment (see section V).

Official letters of appointment are required for all Graduate Assistantships. Appointment letters are available on the URI Graduate School Assistantship website. The signed appointment letter with specific duties and responsibilities listed must be submitted to the Graduate School after the job is entered in HR e-Campus. Scanned appointment letters with original or digital secured signatures will be accepted to expedite the process (see section VI). The letters serve as a contractual agreement between the University and the graduate student. These letters cover expectations and duties as well as specific information regarding the stipend rate, graduate level, work period, and work dates along with applicable policies and procedures. Please note that assistantships are university jobs with benefits and thus require a position number granted by the Budget Office.

Important: Paying a student hourly and providing tuition support DOES NOT make an assistantship. Hourly paid students are not eligible for benefits.

Additional International Student Eligibility Requirements:

- A. English Proficiency: In order to comply with the Council for Postsecondary Education's "Oral Proficiency Policies for Instructional Personnel" adopted 4/16/93, the oral proficiency of international students being appointed to Graduate Teaching Assistantships must be evaluated and certified. Procedures for meeting this requirement are detailed in the "University of Rhode Island English Proficiency Policy." For detailed information, go to the Office of International Students & Scholars website ; e-mail issoff@etal.uri.edu; or call (401) 874-2395.
- B. Payroll: Students must have a Social Security number before their appointment can be entered into HR e-Campus and finalized through Human Resources. For international students who do not already have a Social Security number, this could mean a delay of up to two months before they are eligible to receive their first paycheck. Please communicate this to your international Graduate Assistants. In addition, their tuition waivers will be posted to their account without delay, but they should make arrangements to pay their fees on time so that late charges will not be assessed. All non-U.S. citizens must come to the Payroll Office prior to starting work.

VIII. Additional Employment on the Student Payroll

Domestic graduate students who are Graduate Assistants or are hired on Graduate Student Hourly Payroll are eligible to work additional hours on the Graduate Student Hourly Payroll with the approval of their major professor. Domestic Graduate Assistants may be allowed to work an additional five hours a week on the Graduate Student Hourly Payroll and do not need approval from the Graduate School.

Level III domestic graduate students who are Graduate Assistants or are hired on Graduate Student Hourly Payroll must be approved by the Graduate School to work an additional ten hours a week on the graduate student hourly payroll by submitting the Additional 10 Hour Request Form.

Per Homeland Security regulations, international students are not allowed to work more than 20 hours per week during the academic year. The Graduate School will monitor these additional hours to ensure compliance with eligibility requirements.

IX. Leave & Terminations

Early termination of appointments (termination during the period of appointment indicated) should occur only under extenuating circumstances. Early terminations of Graduate Assistantships can occur for two reasons, i.e. personal (request of student) or professional (request of department/office).

If the department/office requests the termination of the Assistantship, the department/office must show that the appointee has received periodic advice related to those areas of inadequate performance that have led to the request for early termination.

If the student requests the termination of the Assistantship, they must provide notice in writing to their supervisor which includes their last date of employment.

For all early terminations, the hiring department/office or Principal Investigator must inform the student in writing that the stipend and tuition will be prorated for the period of the appointment (early termination date) and that the student is responsible for the remainder of the tuition and standard fees. The Graduate School must be notified in writing in the event of an early termination by providing a copy of the URI Payroll In-House Request for Contract Change. The hiring department is responsible for completing a URI Payroll In-House Request for Contract Change form to notify the Payroll and Human Services offices and the Graduate School is responsible for forwarding the termination request to Enrollment Services.
