

C2 – Global Responsibilities Full

As part of the global community, students need to understand and exercise their global responsibility by exploring global histories, cultures, institutions, and languages. The Global Responsibilities Learning Outcome (C2) focuses students on identifying and analyzing responsible actions for complex global issues. Courses that satisfy this learning outcome are primarily offered at the 100 and 200 level, allowing students to develop a sense of identity and purpose in the global community early on in their academic career.
