committee; the introduction, modification or abolition of individual courses intended primarily for undergraduate instruction; the approval of new and existing courses for general education if in the committee's view, the outcomes proposed for the courses are clearly appropriate (if there is doubt about this, the course(s) shall be referred to the General Education Subcommittee for resolving this matter). No items of this nature (or of the items mentioned below or assigned to one of the subcommittees) may be approved by the Faculty Senate in the absence of a review by the full committee, except for the item mentioned at the end of 4.28.
